CapNY Community Impact: The Free Food Fridge

Jammella Anderson, the Founder of Free Food Fridge Albany, wanted to make fresh, perishable food available to marginalized communities.

With food accessibility already an issue, and the pandemic compounding these problems during the spring of 2020, Jammella and a group of volunteers decided to take action.

Read on to learn more! And, to make donations to Jammella's and Jade Warrick's Winter Care project, contact FreeFoodFridgeAlbany@gmail.com.

Exploring Art Omi with Kids

Feeling the winter blues? You and the kids stuck in the house all day? Writer Kara Zuaro, of Brooklyn DoubleWide, put together a perfect winter itinerary for exploring Art Omi in Ghent.

Art Omi, a 120-acre sculpture park, makes a perfect day-trip destination for families with children of all ages. Here, more than 60 large-scale works of art are presented in open fields or tucked between the trees along twisting nature trails. Art Omi makes an ideal spot for any child who needs a little more room to run than an art museum allows, and it also promises more visual delights than a traditional nature hike.
